

PRESS RELEASE:

John Good raises the curtain at their new offices in Tackley

John Good Limited, the specialist design house and printer for West End and regional theatres, arts organisations and national ballet and opera companies, has moved their head office from Witney to Tackley.

With over 1,500 clients from the theatre, arts and entertainment industries, John Good is one of the leading specialist design and printing suppliers in UK.

The company are moving to their new offices at Court Farm Barns in Tackley, taking 281 sq m (3,026 sq ft).

“We wanted to choose new offices which had the right image for the company as well as providing a pleasant working environment,” comments Andrew Williamson, Finance Director at John Good. “It is also easy for clients to come and visit us either by train using the village station, or road.”

Meeson Williams acted as the letting agents.
